valuable property and will in time bring a good revenue to the country. If lumber yards should be established at the west side of the harbor, it will be necessary to build piers into the harbor for moving ships. Lumber vessels have to be discharged through the stern or bow ports, and when moored without a pier, several hundred feet of chain have to go into the harbor, which will be a greater obstruction than the piers. The wharf of the R. R. Co. should not be built any further out. Its location is not good. If wharves extending into the harbor have to be built, they should be in right angle to the deep water line. The wharf should come under the control of the Harbor Master, as soon as possible.

RECEPTION TO THE 100.

Fashionable Entertainment for the Best People of Honolulu.

Willson's Circus will give an entertainment this evening for the special benefit of the "100" of Honolulu. Every effort will be made in the direction of securing a distinctively fashionable attendance. The program will be gotten up with a view to pleasing the best people. Anything approaching coarseness is not permitted in the ring at any time, but the merriment this evening will be especially attuned to refined ears.

In Australia and the East Mr. Willson frequently put on these high-toned entertainments. On such occasions the nobility and the foremost society people attended. Just such a program as was then carried out will be offered this evening. Choice seats may be reserved by ringing up Mr. Willson at the Circus tent.

How to Greet Him.

President McKinley and his advisers are puzzled over the question of how to receive Mr. Dole when he reaches Washington, there being no established precedent for greeting the visiting Executive of a sister republic. What is the matter with a hearty handshake, accompanied by something verbally cordial, such as "Dole, old boy, how are you?" or, if it is desired to be yet more informal, why not try—"Ah, old Whiskers! What's the latest from Hula Hula Land?"—S. E. Bulletin.

His Hands Were Tied.

"Our little boy broke out with eczema. We were obliged to tie his hands to keep him from scratching and he suffered everything. We began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a short time his face healed. He took five or six bottles and has not had a sick day since." Olney Sencie, Pioneerville, Idaho.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

Reception to Pastor Lewis.

Rev. J. M. Lewis was tendered a surprise reception at the residence of A. Frank Cooke yesterday evening. Mr. Lewis will leave next week for Maui to take charge of the Foreign church at Waiuku. His successor at Palms Chapel has not yet been selected.

Old Fellows Dance.

"Yourself and family are invited to attend a social dance to be given by the members of Harmony Lodge, I. O. O. F., at Harmony hall on Saturday evening, January 29th, at 8 o'clock"—is an invitation sent out yesterday afternoon.

"Thou art fair, but thou art false," she sadly said. Then she laid her blonde hair on the dressing table.
